 ed changes to be sent out with the announcement of the annual meeting.

By-Laws

Dr. Feuten explained that the subject of forming a society of Tropical Medicine had been under consideration for some months and that the committee had been encouraged by personal and written communications from prominent members of the profession in Philadelphia to call the present meeting.

Dr. Kieffer, from the standpoint of personal experience in the Philippines, spoke strongly of the urgent need for the existence of such an organization.

Dr. Wessenberg, spoke in a similar manner. The discussion was continued by Drs. Shoemaker, Han, Anders, M^cFarland, Horvitz, Wilson, Kyle, Stahl, Curtin, Wadsworth, Gleason and M^cCarthy. All the speakers advanced very strong arguments in favor of such a society at this time in Philadelphia.

On motion the chairman appointed the following committee on Organization:

Dr. Shoemaker, chairman, Stahl, Horvitz, Gleason, M^cFarland,

A recess was ordered pending the report of this committee.

After the meeting was again called to order the committee on organization reported as follows: That the meetings of this society should be few in number; that the membership should be somewhat restricted and should include a list of Honorary and Corresponding members. The officers of the society should consist of a President, two vice-presidents, a secretary, an assistant secretary, a treasurer, and a council of seven members, of which the president and the secretary should be ex-officio members. That the Council should be empowered to invite local members of the profession to the number of 125 or 150, inclusive of the thirty-one who have already signified their desire or intention of becoming members. That the council should prepare a Constitution and By-laws to be submitted for adoption at the first regular meeting of the society.

Officers.

The committee nominated the following officers:

President -	Thomas H. Feuten
Vice President -	James C. Wilson
Vice President -	James M. Anders
Secretary -	Joseph M ^c Farland
Assistant Secretary -	No nomination
Treasurer -	E. B. Gleason
Council -	John V. Shoemaker,
	Roland G. Curtin, Orville Horvitz,

Judson Daland and Hobart
A. Hare.

The report of the committee was unanimously adopted and the secretary was authorized to cast the ballot of the society for the officers nominated. The officers were declared elected.

Name

On motion it was voted that the society be known as the Society of Tropical Medicine of Philadelphia.

Address by Dr. Kiefer

On request Captain Kiefer agreed to deliver an address upon some subject in Tropical Medicine, if the Council deem it advisable, at a general meeting to be held as soon as expedient.

The proposition to have a large meeting in some suitable hall to which the senior classes of the University of Pennsylvania, Medical Department, the Jefferson Medical College and the Medico-Surgical College should be invited was left to the ^{council} ~~executive com~~

Circular
authorized

Dr. Stahl moved that a ~~committee~~ concise circular or prospectus descriptive of the purpose and aim of the organization should be sent to each one invited to join the society. Referred to Council.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

Thomas H. Fenton
Secretary.

The Council met at the Art Club on Friday, March 20, 1903. There were present Drs. Teuton, Wilson, Auden, Shoemaker, Curtin, Dalaud, Gleason, Horvitz, McFarland and Swan.

Change of Name.

Dr. Gleason moved that the society be known as the American Society of Tropical Medicine. Dr. Dalaud seconded the motion. Dr. Curtin spoke in favor of the motion and said that by-laws should be adopted to conform to the national idea. After remarks by Drs. Auden, Wilson, Teuton, Horvitz and Curtin the motion was carried.

Provisional By-Laws.

The appended provisional by-laws were adopted.

Circular ordered.

Dr. Wilson moved that a circular be sent to the prominent members of the medical profession, in whatever branch, who may be interested in tropical medicine in any of its bearings, to become original active members. Carried.

Proposed Honorary members.

The secretary read a list of the names of scientists and physicians whom he proposed should be invited to become honorary members.

Term for officers

The officers, it was decided, should hold office for one year.

John M. Swan,
Assistant Secretary.

A meeting of the Council held April 7th, 1904, at 4.30 P.M. at 1319 Spruce Street. Members present Drs. Fenton, Daland, Coplin, and McFarland.

Upon motion of Dr. Coplin, it was agreed that the President of the Society act as Chairman of the Council, and the Secretary of the Society as its Clerk.

Election of Active members.

Dr. McFarland moved the election to active membership of Dr. W. C. Robertson, and Dr. Guthrie McConnell. The Secretary deposited a ballot, and they were elected.

Honorary
members.

The Secretary read letters from several persons acknowledging notifications to Honorary memberships.

Resignation

The resignations of Dr. J. H. Lloyd, Dr. J. V. Shoemaker, and Dr. E. B. Gleason were accepted. The Secretary was authorized to express the regret of the Society at the resignation of Drs. Shoemaker and Gleason, and to express the thankful appreciation of the Society for their past services.

Public
Meeting

The Secretary was instructed to secure as speaker for the next public meeting either Dr. Walter Wyman, Dr. W. H. Welch (of Baltimore) or Dr. Wm. Oaker, the meeting to be held in the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia.

Circular.

The Secretary was authorized to issue a circular to desirable candidates for Active and Corresponding members, setting forth the objects and organization of the Society, in order that they might seek admission to it.

Upon further consideration, it was decided

Secretary.

The Council met April 21, 1904, at the office of Dr. Thomas H. Fenton, 1319 Spruce St., at 4:30 P.M. The following members were present: Dr. Curtin, Dahod, Coplin, Fenton and M^c. Farland.

Treasurer

The secretary read a letter from Dr. Alfred Hand, Jr., in which he declined the honor of his election as Treasurer of the Society. Upon motion of Dr. M^c. Farland the resignation was accepted.

Upon motion of Dr. Coplin, Dr. John M. Swan, Assistant Secretary of the Society was elected Treasurer pro-tempore, pending the election of a treasurer. The President was asked to speak to Dr. Wharton Siskler, Dr. E. L. Dyer, and Dr. B. F. Stahl and endeavor to secure the services of one of them as Treasurer of the Society. After a discussion it was decided that the Treasurer of the Society be its representative and purely financial officer and that the clerical work of the position should devolve upon the Assistant Secretary.

Public

Meeting

The secretary reported his failure to secure either Dr. Walter Wyman, Dr. William H. Welch, or Dr. William Osler as speaker at a public meeting partially arranged for the month of May. As a result it was thought best to omit that meeting and endeavor to arrange for a public meeting on the Monday Evening preceding the meetings of the American Medical Association at Atlantic City, in some convenient place in Atlantic City, which could be arranged with the Committee of Arrangements of the American Medical Association.

Upon motion of Dr. Coplin the final arrangements for this meeting were placed in the hands of the President and the Secretary.

Panama Canal
Commission

Upon motion of Dr. Coplin the Secretary was instructed to put himself in touch with the Panama Canal Commission, telling them the objects of this Society with the hope that mutual benefits might accrue.

Election for Active
Members

Upon motion of Dr. W. E. Farland, Dr. William Osler of Baltimore was elected to active membership.

Public Meeting.

A meeting of the Council of the American Society of Tropical Medicine was held at 7319 Spruce St., November 11, 1904. There were present Drs. Copley, Curtin, Fenton, Galand and Mr. Farland and by invitation Dr. Anders and Swan of the Officers.

Public
meeting

Correspondence was read with Dr. Thayer of Johns Hopkins University, who said that he would be unable to address the society at this time. On motion of Dr. Curtin, seconded by Dr. Anders it was decided to invite Dr. Thayer to address the society next year.

Correspondence

The secretary read letters from F. H. Noy, of Amsterdam, accepting membership in the society; from Charles G. Stockton, of Buffalo, declining membership because he thought that the subject should be made a section of the American Medical Association; from Agel Ames, of Wakefield, Mass, asking information concerning the scope of the society.

Circular
information

The secretary read the preliminary sketch of a circular to be sent to those whom it is desirable to invite to become active members in the society and to those who inquire concerning the aims of the society. After some minor changes the circular was approved and ordered printed.

Dr. Coplin moved that a copy of the circular be sent to individuals whom it is desirable to invite to become active members. Seconded by Dr. Taland. Carried.

Dr. M^r Farland read a list of men who should be invited to become active members.

Public meeting Dr. M^r Farland moved that the arrangements for the public meeting to be held in the Jefferson Medical College be left with Dr. Curtin, he to do the best that he can. Carried.

Annual meeting Dr. Swan moved that the secretaries communicate with the active members and invite them to contribute to the annual meeting to be held in March, 1905. In case the program cannot be filled by the active members the Honorary members should be invited. Seconded by Dr. Taland. Carried.

Resolution
Concerning Teaching of Hygiene in Schools in Tropical Colonies

On motion of Dr. Curtin, seconded by Dr. Egbert the following resolution was adopted and ordered forwarded to the proper authorities:

The American Society of Tropical Medicine, at the suggestion of Sir Patrick Manson, London, one of its honorary members, desires to call your attention to the fact that the investigations of the past decade have increased our knowledge of malaria, yellow fever, hook-worm disease and other tropical diseases as to make their prevention quite possible by the exercise of comparatively simple measures, and begs to recommend, as a means toward the diminution and extinction of these maladies, that a certain amount of information regarding them be included in the curriculum of the public schools in our tropical colonial possessions.

The retiring president, Dr. Fenton after a short address escorted the newly elected president, Dr. Curtin, to the Chair. Dr. Curtin made a few remarks.

The business meeting adjourned at 8:50.

Report of the Secretary of the
 AMERICAN SOCIETY OF TROPICAL MEDICINE
 For the Year from March, 1905, to March, 1906

The year from March, 1905, to March, 1906, has been characterized by increasing interest in the workings of the American Society of Tropical Medicine and by a marked efficiency in its usefulness. The amount of actual achievement has been far greater than in either of the previous years of the Society's existence.

Meetings of the Council were held on October 19, November 17, December 8, 1905, and February 12, 1906. A public meeting was held November 17, 1905, in the lecture-hall of the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. About thirty graduates and one hundred students of medicine were present. A paper upon "The Study of Tropical Medicine," sent by Dr. F. Creighton Wellman, of Benguela, Angola, West Africa, was read by the Secretary, and the address of the evening, upon "Uncinariasis," was presented by Dr. Claude A. Smith, of Atlanta, Ga. This paper was illustrated with specimens and lantern-slides, and was made up of a large number of Doctor Smith's original observations and experiments. The second public meeting was held in the clinical amphitheater of the Medico-Chirurgical Hospital on December 8, 1905. At this meeting the Society was addressed by Asst. Surg.-Gen. W. C. Gorgas, U. S. A., in charge of the Isthmian Zone at Panama, upon "Mosquito Work at the Isthmus of Panama." At the close of this address brief remarks and felicitations were made by Dr. Abraham Jacobi, Dr. Ramon Guiteras, both of New York City, Dr. W. W. Keen, and Dr. J. C. Wilson, of Philadelphia.

At the various meetings of the Council the following names were favorably acted upon for membership in the Society:

Dr. Thomas Wright Jackson, Jefferson Med'l Col., Phila.

" Claude A. Smith, Atlanta, Ga.

" Edward M. L'Engle, Philadelphia

" B. Franklin Royer, Municipal Hosp., Phila.

Prof. K. Dunham, Univ. and Bellevue Hosp. Med'l Col., Dept. of Pathology, New York City (This name had been favorably recommended by the Council before the annual meeting in 1905, but was not ratified then because no acceptance of the invitation to join the Society had been received from Doctor Dunham)

Dr. L. W. Spratling, Surg.-Gen., U. S. N., League Island, Phila.

Dr. J. E. Calvo, Health Officer, City of Panama, Panama

Prof. Henry Du R. Phelan, San Francisco, Cal.

Dr. Max H. Bochroch, Philadelphia

Col. T. W. Leslie, Sec.-Gen., I. M. S., Simla, India

Honorary--Upon receipt of a letter from Professor Henry B. Ward, an eminent zoologist and parasitologist, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebr., expressing his interest in the purposes of the Society and regretting that he could not become a member since he does not hold an M. D. degree, the Council decided to recommend his name for honorary membership.

Typical new anemias and of Dr. Carlos J.
Trinley, of Havana, Cuba, on the possibility of the transmission of the germs of yellow

Resignations were received from Dr. Orville Horwitz, Dr. J. Madison Taylor and Dr. William Osler. The only reason given by Doctor Osler was his leaving this country to take up his residence in Oxford, England, and the Council recommends that his name be transferred from the active to the honorary membership list.

On January 11 and 12 the Society participated in the annual exhibition meeting of the Philadelphia Pathological Society by presenting a series of microscopic and other specimens sent by Dr. F. C. Wellman, of Benguela, Angola, West Africa, Dr. A. Laveran, Pasteur Institute, Paris, and Maj. Ronald Ross, Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine.

At a meeting of the Council held October 19, 1905, it was decided to issue the first publication of the Society in the form of a bound collection of pamphlets. The execution of this was undertaken by a committee consisting of Dr. Thomas H. Fenton and Dr. John M. Swan. It was expected that these would have been distributed before now, but owing to a strike among the printers they have been unavoidably delayed. It is believed that the distribution will take place in a few days.

At the Council meeting held December 8, 1905, it was decided that the next public meeting of the Society should by preference be held in the city of New York. Dr. Abraham Jacobi and Dr. Ramon Guiteras were appointed a committee to look into this matter.

At the last annual meeting it was decided to follow the suggestion of Sir Patrick Manson that resolutions be sent to the authorities in charge of our colonial possessions urging them to take steps toward the dissemination of knowledge among the public-school children and others that would lead to the extinction of such easily prevented maladies as hook-worm disease, yellow fever, malaria, etc. A committee was appointed and these letters were sent. They all met with a kindly reception, and answers to them will be read to-night.

During the year the Secretary has been the recipient of a large number of papers from Dr. F. Creighton Wellman, Benguela, Angola, West Africa, all of which were suitable for publication and have been placed, under the imprimatur of the Society, in the various medical journals. From the same source several boxes of microscopic slides and parasites preserved in alcohol have been received. A complete list of the specimens, as well as of the pamphlets and books, received during the year will accompany this report. (21 MSS.)

At the invitation of the Council Dr. Charles Wardell Stiles, U. S. Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, has consented to become the official zoologist of the Society; and Dr. L. O. Howard, of the Bureau of Entomology, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, the official entomologist of the Society.

Previous to the last annual meeting of the Society the Council recommended certain changes in the by-laws, but through an oversight of the Secretary the clause in the constitution requiring that the proposed changes should be printed upon the notices of the annual meeting was not complied with. It was therefore impossible to vote upon them at that time. The Council still deeming them necessary, notification has been given, and the following changes come before the Society for consideration:

In Article III, after the words, "And a Council of five members," to insert the words, "In 1906 three Councilors shall be elected for two years, and two Councilors for one year. Thereafter each Councilor shall be elected for two years." Also to append to Art. III the words, "In case of death or resignation of any officer or Councilor of the Society, the Council shall be empowered to fill such vacancies until the next following annual meeting."
