The fourth annual meeting of the American Society of Tropical Medicine was held at the Academy of Medicine, New York City, on March 29, 1907. Dr. L. W. Spratling, U. S. Navy, read a paper entitled Yellow Fever Sanitation with Special reference to mild cases. Dr. Louis L. Seaman, of New York, read a paper entitled Observations of Health and Disease in Eastern Africa. Dr. E. W. Pinkham, of New York, read a paper entitled Abscess of the Liver in the Philippines.

Since the annual meeting there has been one public meeting, on June 7, 1907, held at the Polyclinic Hospital, Philadelphia, when Dr. J. H. White, of the U. S. Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, read a paper on the Prophylaxis of Tropical Diseases with special reference to Yellow Fever, which called forth much interesting discussion. The meeting was attended by fifty-one members and guests. Dr. John M. Swan arranged an exhibition of microscopic specimens in the Polyclinic Laboratories which was inspected after the formal address.

The Council has met six times since the annual meeting: April 25th, May 24th, June 18th, October 12th, December 11th, and February 27th. In addition to the routine business transacted, the following items deserve special mention:

Secretary's Report 4.

It was suggested at one of the meetings of Council that a collection of lantern slides be made, illustrative of subjects connected with tropical medicine, which, after being properly catalogued, could be loaned to teachers, members of the society, for use in illustrating lectures. Also that a circular letter be issued to firms in the United States who have tropical connections, offering the assistance of the society in the solution of any problems of a sanitary or medical nature that might be perplexing them. So far no action has been taken on either of these suggestions.

The secretary has six papers on hand for the next volume of the Transactions, and there are two other papers, reprints of which have not yet been received.

The secretary has been invited to give a course of eight lectures on Tropical Medicine at the MedicoChirurgical College of Philadelphia, and he made an address at the meeting of the Delaware County (Pa.) Medical Society on February 13th, on The Diagnosis of Malaria

At the last annual meeting we had on our rolls 66 active members, 17 corresponding members, and 41 honorary members. Four active members have resigned: Dr. E. E. Montgomery, Dr. Alfred Stengel, Dr. Harold N. Moyer, and Dr. H. R. Carter. Two honorary members have died: Dr. James Carroll and Dr. C. F. D. Phillips, and one, Dr. W. C. During the year 1908-09 the council of the American Society of Tropical Medicine has held three meetings, much of the routine business having been translated ^{acted} by letter.

The secretary was invited to represent this society at the meeting of the Committee on Nomenclature and Classification of Diseases of the American Medical Association and at the meeting of a similar committee of the American Public Health Association. In this capacity he attended the meeting of the former committee in Philadelphia on September 24th and 25th, and the meeting of the latter committee on September 30th.

Upon invitation of the President and the Secretary-General of the Sixteenth International Medical Congress the Council appointed the following delegates from this society to the Congress: George Dock, William S. Thayer, James M. Anders, A. Calmette, F. M. Sandwith, W. Kolle, R. P. Strong, and John M. Swan.

The secretary was authorized to add the name of any other member known to be going to this Congress to the list of those already appointed. A suggestion made by a member for the establishment of a Journal of Tropical Medicine was ^{unfavorably} acted upon ~~informally~~ on account of lack of funds.

The collection of lantern slides has been started by a gift of thirteen slides from the London School of Tropical Medicine.

The library continues to grow. The following additions were made during the year: Bound volumes, 10; Pamphlets, 173; Medical Journals, 216; so that now the library consists of 15 bound volumes, and 752 pamphlets and ~~a number of~~ Medical Journals. The contributors have been as follows: Institut Royal de Bacteriologie, Camara Pestana, 2 journals. Bureau of Government Laboratories, Manila, 29 pamphlets, 2 journals. John M. Swan, 8 bound volumes, 43 pamphlets, 141 journals. Allen J. Smith, 1 pamphlet, C. L. Furbush, 3 pamphlets. Isthmian Canal Commission,

These books and pamphlets are catalogued and arranged according to sub-used for binding pamphlets and journals.

The museum has had one addition; several specimens of opiois theordius ^{us} ~~sine~~ sent by Dr. Wm. H. Jeffreys, of Shanghai.

During the year three active members have resigned, Dr. Charles Carey,
Dr. J. N. Henty, and Dr. George E. de Schweinitz. ^{Two} ~~one~~ active member, Dr. Azel
Ames, ^{and Dr. Ira A. Sluiter} died. The election to active membership will increase the active list from 101 to 108. ^{Dr. Sluiter died at Camp Oreston, Mindanao, P. I.,}
^{March 13, 1909.}

The election of Dr. Balfour to corresponding membership will raise the number of corresponding members to 18. The number of honorary members remains the same, 42. The total membership is 168.
